A WORKING GUIDE FOR YOUR PROJECT

Explore. Specify. Confirm.

Browse the interior mockup and artwork view, then enter quantities and options on the following specification page. Each artwork has three linked order lines, allowing different sizes or frames for the same work.

01 CHOOSE THE ARTWORK

Use the visual index or PDF bookmarks to find a work. Each has a stable BR reference, its exact artwork title and links to its current listings.

02 BUILD THE ORDER

Enter a quantity, select a square canvas size and choose Unframed, 360-29 Black or 360-30 Gold. Artistic knife varnish is the requested finish for this collection. Unit prices and line totals calculate from the reference price table.

03 REVIEW THE BACK ORDER SCHEDULE

Matching fields on the artwork pages and back schedule share the same values. All 85 works have thumbnail entries; blank order lines are excluded from totals. Use the back schedule directly if you already know your selections.

04 SEND FOR A FINAL INVOICE

Save the completed PDF and return it to your Bethany Ryan Art salesperson. Bethany reviews the artwork, specifications, finishes, discounts and delivery requirements before issuing an accurate final invoice. Fulfillment begins after final payment is collected.

A CONSISTENT SPECIFICATION

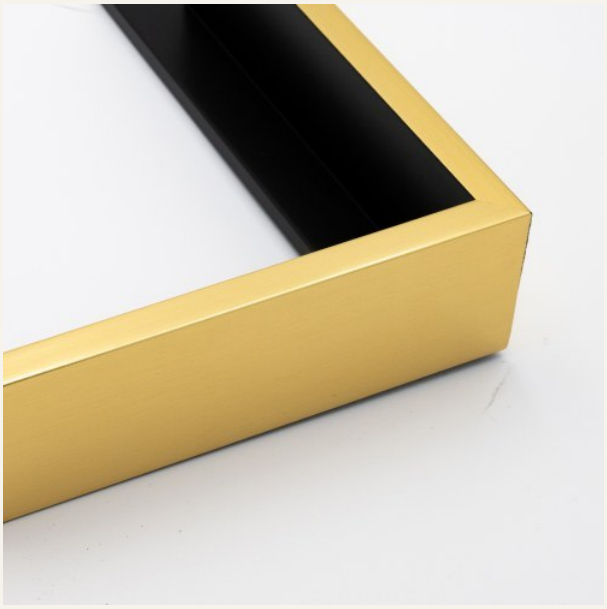

The finishing details.

Fine-art canvas prints with a mirrored edge, offered stretched and unframed or with a floating frame. This collection requests a 1.5-inch gallery-depth canvas and artistic knife varnish; final specifications and frame availability are confirmed on the invoice.

360-29 / BLACK FLOATING FRAME

A dark outline that reinforces graphic contrast and suits quieter architectural finishes.

360-30 / GOLD FLOATING FRAME

A warm metallic accent that echoes luminous highlights and warmer interior materials.

ARTISTIC KNIFE VARNISH

A hand-applied, non-pigmented acrylic finish creates raised strokes and ridges across the printed surface. It adds physical texture to the canvas image. The underlying artwork remains a fine-art print; the applied finish does not make it an original hand-painted work.

SCALE, COLOR & FINAL APPROVAL

Sizes in this catalog refer to the canvas face, not the total outer framed dimensions. Interior mockups illustrate possible settings and are not scale drawings. Screen color, printed color and the appearance of a hand-applied finish can vary. Ask for final outer dimensions and finish confirmation before specifying a tight installation.

MADE TO ORDER - PLAN FOR FINISHING TIME

Production and fulfillment can take more than two weeks. Each order involves printing, stretching, framing where selected, and final finishing and artist review. Large orders, special requirements and delivery to multiple locations can extend the schedule. Confirm the project deadline and delivery plan before approving the final invoice.

DISCOUNTS AND ONLINE ORDERING

Three proposed discount slots are provided at the back. A code alone does not change a total; enter the approved percentage or amount. From Clay

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A terracotta urn and a face that seems to emerge from plaster give From Clay its intimate, material presence. Agave, cypress, painted flowers and a medallion-like focal point gather into an imagined Mexican courtyard, where architectural surfaces hold as much interest as the objects themselves. The composition suggests an encounter between the cultivated garden and the earth beneath it. Its imagery of clay, tile and plaster invites reflection on what things are made of and what remains. Warm natural textures and botanical details create a layered focal point for an interior built around stone, wood and quiet earth tones.

Four Hours

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Interlocking discs and quadrants circle an open center like clockwork without hands. Ochre, navy and rust give Four Hours a measured warmth, while four stones resting in a corner provide a small, grounded counterpoint to the larger geometry. The empty space is an active part of the composition: each form seems to mark an interval around it. With the restraint of a visual score, the work suggests time experienced through memory and distance rather than counted in minutes. It offers a contemplative presence for rooms where strong structure and a limited, earthy palette can carry the atmosphere.

Cinema

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Platinum waves, scarlet lips and violet smoke bring premiere-night glamour into a stylized portrait with an Art Deco sensibility. Gold-toned klieg lights establish the cinematic atmosphere, while the figure's sculptural presence gives Cinema a clear focus within its square composition. The image moves between the elegance of classic screen portraiture and the heightened color of an abstract statement. From across a room, its luminous face and bold accents read immediately; closer viewing reveals the layered interplay of smoke, contour and light. Pairing it with rich upholstery, reflective accents or restrained furnishings allows its theatrical character to lead.

The Unseen

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A red room, a tiled hearth and night-dark windows establish the private world of The Unseen. A moon-faced profile appears within the interior, while a plant climbs the wall and a small fire holds its place in the hearth. These details make the room feel inhabited without explaining its story. The composition's warmth is held against the darkness outside, creating an atmosphere at once sheltered and mysterious. Its appeal lies in that withheld narrative: the viewer is offered an interior but never its complete history. It suits spaces that welcome intimate imagery, quiet contrast and a slower kind of attention.

Sepulchre

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Twin blue-vaulted arches resemble chapel niches in Sepulchre, giving the image a solemn architectural rhythm. Beneath them, a domed stone bears the inscription CVRSVM PERFICIO, while four smooth stones introduce bone, slate, rust and charcoal into the lower composition. The arrangement is deliberate and spare, with Mediterranean light and tile-like geometry lending clarity to its symbolic forms. Rather than relying on ornament, the work finds its presence in intervals, curved vaults and the weight of stone imagery. It creates a meditative focal point for interiors that favor restrained color, sculptural objects and thoughtful architectural detail.

Goddess Eternal

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A colossal profile rises in cream and gold through Talavera star motifs and treble clefs. In Goddess Eternal, this serene figure is joined by stone steps, a CURSUM PERFICIO tablet and a blue iron gate, creating an ascent that feels both architectural and symbolic. The composition draws on the visual language of an altarpiece while remaining open to personal interpretation. Decorative pattern and musical signs surround the face without diminishing its stillness. The result is a monumental yet composed image whose layered details reward close viewing, particularly in interiors where generous wall space allows the upward movement to unfold.

Split

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Hot pink, scarlet and orange collide with black, record-like circles in Split. A central upright tester, spinning grooves and a target at the left create a sharply graphic composition with the energy of midcentury pop. The orange-red contrast carries the image's tension, suggesting the difference between a thing itself and the heightened version projected onto a screen. Circles pull the eye outward as the strong central form holds its position. Playful yet pointed, the work uses saturated color and familiar visual fragments to create a bold focal point for interiors that welcome glamour, music and a confident graphic language.

Ethereal

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Ethereal balances the glamour of a gold-toned lip motif with swirls of rose and cream. An orange tester accent sharpens the soft palette, while smoky textures, orbital movement and confetti-like details keep the image in motion. Its atmosphere is romantic without becoming still: the eye moves from the lips through luminous accents and into the smaller marks below. The contrast between a clearly defined focal point and an enveloping haze gives the composition both presence and softness. In a bedroom, dressing room or refined seating area, it can connect warm metallic accents with blush textiles and quieter neutral surfaces.

Leed

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

An arched blue door and a paved path draw the viewer into the orange garden of Leed. Flowering branches, crescent moons and four stone fountains on tiled plinths give the scene a patterned, architectural rhythm. The garden feels carefully ordered yet open to reverie, with pathways and thresholds suggesting a place just beyond reach. Its mood is gentle, its narrative implied through the relationship between built forms and growing things. The square composition contains many small points of interest while retaining a sense of stillness, making it a considered choice for interiors that bring together botanical accents, warm surfaces and clean lines.

Separation

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A small gold object becomes the center of an emotionally charged scene in Separation. The tube stands upright while its cap lies apart, the engraved eagle facing upward. Around them, splatters arc across a division of cool teal and burning crimson, making color itself seem to enact the separation. The distance between the two forms matters as much as either object: it turns a simple arrangement into a suspended moment. Precise detail and forceful color coexist without a crowded composition, giving the work a sharp, reflective presence in modern interiors where one focused image can carry a larger story.

Firmament

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A hacienda rests beneath an enormous Constructivist sky in Firmament. Breeze-block screens, a dark carved door and azulejo tile imagery provide familiar architectural detail, while black suns and gold coronas shift the scale toward the cosmic. A pedestal beside the steps, bearing the CURSUM PERFICIO detail, gives the expansive scene a more intimate point of attention. The work's character comes from this meeting of domestic space and an extraordinary sky. Pattern, shadow and strong graphic forms hold the composition together, creating a layered image for interiors that combine tactile architectural finishes with imaginative, story-rich artwork.

Bombshell

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A studio lipstick tester becomes an explosive focal point against the Constructivist sky of Bombshell. Its orange color sits within a palette of cream, crimson and celestial blue, surrounded by gold-toned clouds and the visual suggestion of heavy, layered paint. A typewritten label brings a precise, documentary note to the otherwise dramatic scene. The title is made literal, then complicated: glamour is presented alongside the force of the name itself. This tension between a small object and an outsized public image gives the work an editorial edge, suited to spaces where bold design and conversation are equally welcome.

Impact

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

In Impact, an inscription becomes a monument. Roman capitals appear as if carved into individual mosaic tesserae, accompanied by a rosette altar and a flight of stone steps. Bone, ochre, cobalt and rust establish a fresco-like palette that feels both weathered and graphic. The relationship between letters and architecture gives the composition its authority: language is treated as a built form, with its own rhythm, weight and surface. Warm neutral notes soften the structure, while cobalt and rust provide depth. The image rewards sustained viewing in interiors where classical references can meet clean contemporary furnishings.

Crimson Architectonics in Motion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Sweeping crimson triangles press against vertical bands of black, cream and dusty blue in Crimson Architectonics in Motion. Gold-toned accents punctuate the arrangement, adding warmth to its assertive Cubo-Futurist structure. The work's sense of motion comes from the opposing directions of its forms: upright bands establish an architectural framework while diagonal planes send the eye across it. This balance of order and momentum gives the image a strong presence without obscuring its clear geometry. It is a natural focal point for modern offices, lofts and spacious reception areas where a decisive color story can reinforce the surrounding architecture.

Constructivist Tension in Red and Black

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Bold black bars cut across a crimson square in Constructivist Tension in Red and Black. Slivers of cobalt and mustard interrupt the dominant contrast, giving the composition small but decisive shifts in temperature and direction. Its impact depends on restraint: a few strong forms create the sense of force, balance and architectural tension. Black holds the image together while the red plane pushes forward, making the relationship between the shapes immediately legible. The work can anchor a modern office or seating area, especially where clean-lined furnishings and a limited palette allow its graphic character to remain the focus.

Whispered Resonance in Luminous White

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Powder-blue circular forms drift through the softly weathered white field of Whispered Resonance in Luminous White. Fine dark lines, fragmentary geometry and muted gold marks establish an intricate rhythm, interrupted by one ember-red accent. The open ground is as expressive as the forms it contains, allowing arcs and small marks to emerge gradually. From a distance, the composition reads as an airy arrangement of white, ivory and soft color; closer viewing reveals its delicate printed textures and overlapping planes. Its restrained warmth can complement pale stone, cream upholstery and darker architectural accents without overwhelming a quiet interior.

Cosmic Convergence in Cobalt and Gold

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A radiant golden burst draws the eye into Cosmic Convergence in Cobalt and Gold. Cobalt and crimson arcs swirl around it, accompanied by constellations of circles and fine linework that keep the movement precise. The composition balances the richness of jewel tones with the delicacy of its smaller marks: a strong central event opens into a network of orbiting forms. Its energy is concentrated rather than diffuse, offering a clear focal point within a larger room. Neutral furnishings allow the palette to lead, while repeated accents of blue or gold can connect the work to a coordinated interior scheme.

Rose Waltz Around a Luminous Center

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Soft rose and mauve arcs turn around a luminous center in Rose Waltz Around a Luminous Center. Jewel-toned circles and a subtle crescent moon bring distinct points of focus to the sweeping movement, suggesting the pace of a slow dance. The composition's grace lies in its balance of softness and structure: broad curves establish atmosphere while smaller circular forms articulate the rhythm. Romantic without losing its abstract character, the work can sit comfortably in both contemporary and more traditional rooms. Its muted color relationships suit bedrooms, salon-style seating and other interiors where movement is welcome but visual calm remains essential.

Jubilant Constellation in Motion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Circles and sweeping arcs orbit a radiant center in Jubilant Constellation in Motion. Cobalt, crimson and gold establish a vibrant palette, while scattered bursts of color give the image the buoyancy of confetti. The composition holds its many moving parts in a clear relationship to the center, balancing celebration with geometric order. Broad gestures provide immediate energy and smaller shapes reward a closer look. Its modernist rhythm can enliven a studio, living room or shared gathering area, particularly when surrounding furnishings leave room for the color and motion to become the principal visual event.

Turquoise Laughter in Motion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Turquoise washes swirl around coral triangles and a sunny yellow circle in Turquoise Laughter in Motion. Black ribbon-like lines travel through the color, supplying a lively counterpoint to the broader, softer fields. The title's humor is reflected in this easy interplay of shapes: nothing feels static, yet the arrangement remains airy and open. Warm accents prevent the turquoise from becoming cool or distant, giving the work an approachable character. It can introduce a cheerful focal point to sunrooms, living areas and welcoming shared spaces, where natural light and simple furnishings allow the playful geometry to remain prominent.

Infinite Cadence

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Crossing beams of red, gold and slate stride through a warm field of circles and confetti in Infinite Cadence. Their strong directions establish a steady beat, while the smaller forms make the surrounding space feel animated and full. The composition suggests continuity rather than a single burst of movement, as if the geometric rhythm could carry on beyond the edges. Warm color and structured motion work together to create a celebratory presence. It is well suited to dining areas, reception spaces and other gathering rooms where an artwork can contribute energy while retaining a clear, architectural organization.

Reversing Turbine Vortex

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Sharp shards of teal, rust and navy spiral into the center of Reversing Turbine Vortex. The arrangement evokes a mechanism caught mid-spin, with opposing directions creating a sense of movement that may be turning back on itself. High-contrast edges make the individual fragments legible while their repeated angles pull them into a larger revolving structure. The result is kinetic and architectural, balancing forceful motion with a contained square field. In an office, loft or contemporary living space, its warm rust accents can connect the cool blues and greens to wood, leather or other grounded interior materials.

Radiant Chord Across the Cosmos

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A brilliant white-gold center sends fine lines outward through Radiant Chord Across the Cosmos. Deep blue gathers to one side and warm crimson to the other, establishing a vivid balance of cool and warm color. Circles and orbiting arcs guide the eye through the radiating structure, giving the image the quality of a visual score. The central light holds the arrangement together while the surrounding marks suggest expansion. ARTWORK NOTES

Deep indigo and midnight blue gather around a luminous celestial orb in Blue Orbit Nocturne. Crescent moons and golden spheres drift through the surrounding field, providing warm points of contrast within the nocturnal atmosphere. The composition's movement feels suspended rather than hurried, allowing its circular motifs to establish a quiet, recurring rhythm. Strong blue tones give the image depth while the pale and gold accents keep the darkness open. It makes an evocative focal point for a bedroom, reading room or intimate lounge, especially where restrained furnishings and soft lighting allow the cosmic imagery to carry the mood.

ARTWORK NOTES

A broad diagonal of vermilion drives across the pale, weathered field of Mineral Sonata. Red and deep blue discs, fine black lines and orbital arcs counterbalance the sweep, while small gold, black and blue fragments introduce a more measured geometric rhythm. The image brings together the apparent spontaneity of a bold gesture and the precision of carefully placed forms. Its cream ground keeps the dense movement open, allowing both the stronger color and the smaller details to register. This combination of warmth, visual texture and decisive direction makes a vivid focal point for contemporary offices, reception areas and gallery-style residential interiors.

Coral Orbit Turquoise Void

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Coral and blush spheres move around a pool of turquoise in Coral Orbit Turquoise Void. Black arcs and confetti-like details punctuate the warm pastel ground, giving the soft colors a precise graphic counterpoint. The composition feels calm and kinetic at once: rounded forms suggest orbit while the open turquoise center offers a place for the eye to rest. Its fresh warmth can connect pale wood, rattan and simple upholstery in an airy interior. Whether used above seating or as an entry focal point, the work brings a tropical suggestion through color while retaining a wholly abstract structure.

Rose Waltz in Luminous Curves

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Ballroom-like curves of rose, blush and pearl sweep around cobalt notes and fine musical staves in Rose Waltz in Luminous Curves. The composition uses the contrast between broad, soft movement and delicate linear detail to suggest a graceful dance. Cobalt provides a small but important anchor within the pale color story, keeping the image expressive rather than weightless. Its romantic character comes from rhythm as much as palette, with each arc seeming to answer another. The work suits softly furnished bedrooms and salon-style seating areas where pearl tones, subtle pinks and restrained blue accents can create a coherent atmosphere.

Teal Nocturne in Motion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A pale moon rests above teal currents and dark pier-like forms in Teal Nocturne in Motion. Pearl-colored dots drift across the scene, introducing small points of light into its deep sea-green atmosphere. The composition suggests a harbor at night while remaining open and abstract, with the rhythm of water carried by color and shadow rather than literal detail. Its black structural forms give the softer movement a clear anchor. Paired with linen, warm wood or restrained metal accents, the work brings a tranquil coastal note to an interior without relying on familiar nautical decoration.

Scarlet Rhythm in Darkness

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A molten scarlet ellipse glows against a dark field threaded with brass-colored pendulums and ember-like lines. Scarlet Rhythm in Darkness uses this concentrated red form to create a magnetic center, while the finer elements extend its rhythm into the surrounding night. The contrast is theatrical, with warm details emerging from deep shadow rather than competing across the entire surface. It can anchor a dining room, lounge or entertainment space where lighting is part of the atmosphere. The work's strong central motif remains readable at a distance, while its pendulum forms and fine threads invite a closer look.

Mechanical Dawn in Cubo Futurist Geometry

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Crimson, gold and cobalt rays burst from a radiant central sun, turning dawn into a sharply ordered mechanical event. Angular forms and a concentrated center give the work a confident, energetic presence, particularly where a room calls for decisive color and graphic structure.

ARTWORK NOTES

Teal towers rise through a midnight skyline traced by slender, neon-like lines. Golden moons and rooftop light punctuate the darkness, suggesting a city still awake after nightfall. Fractured Time in Chromatic Rhythms

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Clock-like rings, checkered bands and russet shards interlock across a cubist mosaic of cream, slate and ember. The composition suggests time as a collection of overlapping rhythms rather than a single continuous sequence. Circular motifs return the eye to their centers while angular fragments redirect it across the image; patterned bands introduce another, more measured tempo. Its detail invites unhurried viewing, yet the restrained palette keeps the whole coherent. This is an especially considered choice for interiors where people pause, read or converse, allowing the work's intricate relationships to emerge gradually rather than all at once.

Violet Silence in Gold and Ivory

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A single ivory moon rests among broad violet planes, balanced by two small gold-toned suns whose depicted surfaces suggest hammered metal. The composition feels pared back and deliberate. Its interest lies in proportion, spacing and subtle contrasts of luminosity: a pale moon, warm points of gold and the depth of violet around them. The large planes establish a velvety, meditative mood while the circular accents keep the geometry from feeling static. In a quiet interior, the work can offer a concentrated moment of color without relying on dense pattern or an expansive narrative.

Awakening Orchestra at Sunrise

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Circles, arcs and angular lines assemble in gold, cobalt and rust, suggesting the opening phrases of an orchestra at sunrise. The composition draws on the idea of sound translated into color: curved forms carry sustained notes while sharper lines introduce changes of pace. Warm hues give the image an early-morning radiance, balanced by cobalt's cooler depth. Its geometries feel measured even when their relationships are energetic, allowing the work to hold both motion and composure. It offers a musical rather than literal image of awakening, suited to spaces where color should feel animated and welcoming.

Cosmic Finale in Chromatic Harmony

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Concentric rings, checkerboards, dots and comet-like trails gather around a radiant core. Blue, crimson and gold give this exuberant composition a broad, celebratory range, while repeated geometric patterns keep its energy organized. The rings establish a sense of expansion; smaller marks and trails carry the eye between them like passages in a musical finale. Dense detail and large circular forms operate at different viewing distances, inviting both an immediate response to color and a closer reading of the pattern. The result is a lively celestial abstraction with a strong center and a generous sense of movement.

Golden Dawn Overture

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A soft yellow sun rises over rose and cobalt geometry as slender arcs open like the first phrase of morning. The image treats dawn as a gentle arrangement of color and line, carrying warmth without the force of a dramatic sunrise. Cobalt gives the lighter forms definition, while the arcs introduce a sense of unfolding space. The mood is hopeful and serene, with a musical suggestion appropriate to its title. In an interior, its quiet brightness can establish a welcoming focal point while leaving room for natural materials, warm neutrals and the changing light of the day.

Electric Counterpoint in Chromatic Motion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Magenta lightning cuts across electric blue, interrupted by chartreuse suns and orange discs. These highly saturated colors create an immediate sense of voltage: warm circular forms seem to pulse against the cooler field, while zigzagging accents carry the composition forward. The work's energy comes from the conversation between abrupt lines and recurring discs, each making the other more pronounced. Its geometric vocabulary remains readable even at an assertive scale. Chosen for a space with room for strong color, it can serve as a confident center of activity and a playful counterpoint to quieter surrounding surfaces.

Blue Interval in Ultramarine

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A silver-toned crescent and slender crossing beams appear within layered ultramarine and midnight blue. The contrast is delicate rather than explosive: pale light emerges from the dark field, giving the image a spacious, twilight atmosphere. The beams introduce a precise geometric structure, while the crescent lends a softer celestial rhythm. Much of the work's presence comes from that balance between deep color and restrained illumination. It offers an intimate, meditative focal point for rooms that favor subtle shifts of tone, and rewards placement where the darker passages can be seen without glare or visual competition.

Oceanic Hymn in Blue and Gold

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Cream moons ride cresting waves of sapphire, sea-glass green and violet beneath scattered dark stars. The composition brings oceanic movement and moonlight into the same abstract space, allowing sweeping curves to carry its rhythm. The pale circular forms interrupt that flow with measured moments of stillness. Although the image is celestial as well as maritime, its strongest impression is the rise and return of a tide. The cool palette feels lyrical and expansive, offering a way to introduce movement into an interior while retaining a contemplative atmosphere and a clear relationship between large shapes and smaller marks.

Prelude in Cobalt and Gold

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A deep cobalt sphere anchors a graceful black arc across cream, rose and powder-blue triangles. The dark curve gives the softer geometry direction without disturbing its poise. Like a quiet musical prelude, the composition relies on balance and expectation, creating a refined focal point through a small number of carefully related forms.

Completion

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A white hacienda, a terracotta path and Talavera tile in cobalt and rust establish an intimate architectural scene. Four gray stones set into the walk carry the words “cursum perficio,” drawing attention to a threshold that is both physical and symbolic. The work presents this doorstep as an arrival rather than simply an ending. Its quiet ceremonial quality emerges from familiar materials, considered pattern and a restrained palette, giving the narrative room to unfold slowly. The imagery is especially suited to an interior where the meanings of home, passage and completion can be considered at an unhurried pace.

Paper Orchestra of Floating Color

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Translucent petals of blush, wheat and lavender drift across a soft white field like sheet music suspended in air. The work's movement is light and dispersed, carried by overlapping forms rather than forceful lines or dense color. Each shape seems to retain its own space while contributing to a loose orchestral rhythm. The pale ground is as important as the forms themselves, keeping the image open and allowing the softer colors to register clearly. This delicate abstraction lends itself to airy interiors, where it can introduce gentle visual movement and a modest range of warm and cool tones.

Violet Circuit in Rhythm

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Violet panels, teal discs and small magenta sparks connect across silver gray, forming a playful visual circuit. The composition borrows the suggestion of a circuit board without becoming a literal technical diagram. Rounded shapes soften the panel-like geometry, and the brighter accents introduce a lively pulse within its cool palette. The effect is modern and melodic, with a lightness that keeps the structured forms approachable. It can complement an interior with crisp lines and restrained materials, supplying color and a sense of connection while leaving the surrounding architecture and furnishings room to remain visible.

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A monumental black orb anchors crimson triangles, gold accents and ink-like constellations against a linen-toned ground. Its depicted surface carries a hand-worked character, balancing dramatic graphic contrast with the warmth of a natural-looking background.

Midnight Revelation

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A luminous golden disc emerges against deep indigo, framed by violet planes and streaking silver-toned arcs. The dark field gives the central light a concentrated presence, while the intersecting shapes suggest a moment of discovery rather than a still celestial diagram. Curves and planes pull in different directions, sustaining the image's tension without displacing its glowing focus. The work brings a cinematic quality to the idea of revelation: sudden clarity within a contemplative night. It is well suited to interiors that can support rich blue color and where viewers have time to notice the quieter relationships around the brightest forms.

Superposition

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

One tube stands upright while its fallen, sealed twin rests beside it on a gold field poised between an explosion and a bloom. Starburst marks at the corners suggest the notation of a physics diagram, introducing a language of observation and uncertainty. The title draws on the idea of simultaneous states: icon and woman, remembered and absent, held together without a final resolution. The image turns a familiar object into an emblem of divided identity. Its visual drama is matched by a conceptual stillness, encouraging the viewer to consider the two positions as equally present within the same frame.

Ivory Crescent Silent Gravity

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A luminous crescent floats within navy and violet, with a distant red orb and fine radiating lines suggesting a subtle gravitational pull. The composition treats space as intimate rather than immense: the isolated light feels close, and the surrounding darkness gives each small mark significance. Its motion is implied through relationships between forms, leaving the overall mood suspended and quiet. The crescent's pale warmth offers a gentle contrast to the cooler field. This work invites slow looking and can provide a concentrated point of interest in interiors shaped around subdued light, deep colors and a sense of retreat.

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Orange, crimson and gold sparks whirl through charcoal darkness, accompanied by glowing dots and arcs. The image recalls banked embers: warmth remains concentrated within the dark field even as individual marks appear to rise and turn. Curved passages keep the composition moving, while the strong tonal contrast gives each bright element a distinct presence. Its drama is smoldering rather than expansive, drawing the eye inward toward smaller shifts of light and color. The work can bring a warm visual center to an intimate room, especially alongside darker furnishings and materials that echo its restrained background and glowing accents.

Fuchsia Improvisation in Rhythm

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Fuchsia clouds, violet orbs and a sweeping black ribbon improvise across blush and cream. The darker ribbon gives the composition a continuous gesture, joining the more buoyant shapes without confining them. Soft background colors keep the saturated magenta from feeling isolated, allowing the brighter passages to read as part of a larger rhythm. The mood is playful and expressive, closer to a spontaneous musical phrase than a rigid geometric construction. Its mixture of rounded forms and a decisive dark sweep makes it an engaging choice for an interior that welcomes color, personality and a little visual exuberance.

Yellow Silence with Hidden Rhythm

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A chalk-white sun floats within mellow yellow, grounded by a bold charcoal stroke and drifting blue crescents. A small set of forms creates a surprisingly varied rhythm: the sun holds still while the darker gesture and curved blue accents imply movement. The result balances cheerful warmth with restraint, giving the composition a sunny but considered character.

Celestial Currents Meet in Golden Harmony

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Two radiant golden spirals turn through cobalt, crimson and violet, giving this composition its sense of celestial current. Repeated curves create a strong rhythm, while the jewel-toned passages supply depth and contrast around the lighter centers. The eye moves outward and back, following the spirals as if they were overlapping systems of motion. Gold is expressed through color and depicted light within the image, providing a warm counterpoint to the cooler blues and violets. The work has a commanding, expansive presence that can hold its own in an entry or reception space with generous viewing distance.

Bullseye

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A gold tube stands at the center of concentric targets in cobalt, black and gilded cream. Every ring directs attention toward the same small object, turning glamour into a visual language of scrutiny and aim. The depicted ground appears worn and repeatedly handled, adding unease to the precise geometry. This tension is central to the work: an intimate emblem is placed under an overwhelming concentration of attention. Read at a distance, the rings form a bold graphic structure; closer viewing brings the central object and its implications forward. It is a pointed, conceptually driven choice for a collection that invites conversation.

Indigo Planes Folding Through Space

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Planes of indigo, crimson and gold overlap, fold and intersect in a Cubo-Futurist arrangement. The crisp geometry suggests motion arrested at a particular instant, as though several views of a structure were occupying the same space. Color makes those relationships legible: deep indigo establishes weight, crimson introduces urgency, and gold-toned passages bring warmth to the intersections. The work's energy is architectural rather than purely decorative, relying on the tension between surfaces and directions. It offers a strong visual companion to contemporary interiors with clear lines, where its layered structure can be read from across a room and reconsidered up close.

Verdant Dream in Emerald Harmony

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Emerald leaves, rose buds and jade moons gather within a pastel garden threaded by dotted pollen-like paths. The image combines botanical suggestions with a soft abstract vocabulary, allowing plant forms and celestial discs to coexist without a literal landscape. Its freshness comes from the balance between green structure and lighter, warmer accents. The dotted paths lend a small-scale rhythm that encourages closer viewing, while the broader forms keep the composition airy. This gentle, springlike work can connect an interior to the idea of a garden through color and movement, complementing natural light and an uncluttered arrangement of furnishings.

Celestial Resonance in Gold

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Golden rings and orbiting circles ripple outward like resonant sound waves. A crimson diagonal cuts across warm ochre and indigo, introducing a strong directional counterpoint to the circular movement. The image is organized around the tension between expansion and interruption: repeated rings establish a rhythm, then the diagonal shifts its emphasis. Gold-toned light unifies the composition while the deeper blue passages give it weight. This is a luminous but structured abstraction, suitable for an interior that benefits from measured energy. Its distinct large forms remain readable from a distance, with smaller relationships emerging as the viewer approaches.

Dreaming Garden in Color

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Watercolor-like leaves, blossoms and constellations of dots move across a warm cream ground in soft rose, teal and gold. The garden remains suggestive, built from the impression of growing forms rather than a literal botanical scene. Small marks introduce a delicate rhythm around broader, more fluid shapes, keeping the composition airy. Its printed imagery carries the appearance of layered color and gentle transitions, contributing to the work's lightness. The palette can bring a quiet sense of nature into a room while still reading as contemporary abstraction, particularly where warm neutral surroundings allow the rose and teal passages to stand out.

Eternity

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

An arched doorway opens onto water and light. A lone figure travels a tiled corridor toward the horizon while a plumb line hangs motionless within the arch. Wooden doors, carved stones and an inscription give the passage a tangible architectural setting, even as the scene suggests a threshold between worlds. Movement and stillness coexist: the figure advances, the line remains fixed, and the sea offers an open destination beyond the enclosed space. The work's narrative is one of journey and quiet departure, inviting sustained reflection. Its subtle tonal transitions and perspective make it especially compelling in a setting where viewers can pause.

Rhythms of the Orange Labyrinth

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Orange ribbons wind through teal discs, checkered paths and black notation, making a labyrinth of color rather than a literal map. The composition invites the eye to follow one route and discover another, with curved movement interrupted by patterned passages and rounded landmarks. Its energy is playful, but the contrast between warm orange and cool teal provides a clear organizing principle. Detail rewards close attention without erasing the larger sweep of the ribbons. In an interior, the work can function as a lively point of discovery, especially where an otherwise simple palette gives its intricate line and pattern room to unfold.

Emerald Ascension Through Golden Air

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Shards and forest-green columns rise through shafts of golden light, bringing the vertical rhythm of deep woods into abstraction. The work balances architectural form with the atmosphere of a canopy: its upward structures feel deliberate, yet the light between them suggests air and depth. Rich green establishes a hushed base for the warmer passages, allowing gold-toned illumination to become an active part of the composition. The resulting mood is both verdant and ascending. It can anchor a room with natural materials or darker finishes, offering a sense of height and luminous space within the square image.

Fractured Indigo Symphony

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Shards of indigo, gold and ivory break across the composition, streaked with fine white lines and punctuated by warm golden orbs. The image combines fragmented geometry with the appearance of expressive brushwork, letting sharply divided forms coexist with a more fluid sense of movement. The orbs provide pauses within that activity, while the white lines connect or redirect nearby passages. Indigo gives the work its depth; pale and gold-toned accents bring it forward. The result is an energetic, painterly abstraction that can support a substantial focal wall without requiring a literal subject to organize the viewing experience.

Indigo Echoes in Controlled Chaos

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

White light bursts through a deep indigo storm of navy planes and knife-sharp black rays. Gold-toned accents interrupt the darker passages, contributing to the image's layered visual texture. The composition holds a split-second impact within a controlled arrangement, letting explosive movement coexist with the calm associated with nocturnal blue. Its brightest area draws the eye immediately, then the surrounding planes and rays reveal how carefully that force is directed. This is a work of tension between radiance and darkness, suitable for a room that can give its high contrast space and allow the quieter blue relationships to remain visible.

Voids

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A tipped tube emerges from a vortex of musical staves and notes streaming through gold. Black circles open like interruptions in a record while violet smoke coils upward, giving the image an unstable rhythm of presence and absence. Torn-edge imagery and a typewritten date add a fragmentary, documentary quality without resolving the scene into a single story. Music appears here as both movement and interruption: passages continue, then fall into dark gaps. The work invites close attention to its layered symbolism and can sit thoughtfully within a collection concerned with memory, performance and the objects that remain after an event.

Crimson Geometry Resonant Rhythm

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Crimson blades and mahogany planes intersect a pale field, held in tension by a deep blue disc and precise dark lines. The composition draws its power from clear differences in direction, shape and visual weight. Broad planes establish an architectural structure, while the disc introduces a measured circular counterpoint. The pale background keeps the intersections legible and allows the darker forms to assert themselves without filling every space. With its Constructivist emphasis on proportion and rhythm, the work can complement an interior of strong lines and substantial materials, giving a room a focused sense of order and controlled energy.

Dynamic Cosmic Turquoise

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Turquoise discs, a rose triangle and lavender planes tumble through a bright cream field stitched with fine black arcs. The image is light-hearted and open, using a small vocabulary of shapes to suggest a larger, buoyant movement. The dark arcs provide continuity among the pastel forms, while the cream background gives each one space to register. Its cosmic suggestion feels playful rather than solemn, closer to a free arrangement of celestial notes than a map of the sky. This airy composition can introduce a gentle range of color to a sunlit room without relying on dense pattern or strong tonal drama.

Copper Fugue in Resonant Color

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Interlocking copper arcs, teal discs and burnished gear-like forms turn together in a richly layered composition. The image suggests a mechanical songbook, with repeated curves and connected parts establishing the structure of a fugue. Autumnal warmth is balanced by cooler teal, allowing the work to feel substantial without becoming tonally uniform. Layered copper tones and burnished-looking surfaces give the printed image a sense of patina, adding depth to the arcs and gear-like details. The combination of engineered ornament and rhythmic movement makes it a natural visual companion to wood, leather and interiors that welcome both precision and warmth.

Suspended Geometric Counterweights

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Taut black lines stretch between a red-and-black circle and a stacked totem of geometric weights. The arrangement suggests suspension: each form appears to participate in a larger balance, even as their different sizes create tension. Its spare vocabulary makes small changes of position and proportion feel consequential. The vertical stack and connecting lines give the work architectural presence, while the circular element provides a concentrated counterweight. With its Constructivist clarity, the image can bring graphic sophistication to an uncluttered room, inviting the viewer to consider how apparent stability is produced by forces held in relation.

Fragmented

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A torn Mirror headline, a record player, a little white dog and a curling telephone cord surround an upright lipstick. The composition reads as a set of clues: recognizable objects remain sharply present, yet their relationships refuse to settle into a complete account. Tabloid imagery and pop-art portrait cues give the scene a cinematic, almost forensic quality. Its central observation is that every fragment can carry truth without becoming the whole subject. The work asks viewers to assemble a story and notice the limits of that assembly, making it a strong narrative choice for a collection intended to prompt discussion.

Prism of Memory

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

Lilac, gold and dove-gray planes overlap like remembered light passing through a prism. Faceted geometry is softened by a diffuse, painterly atmosphere, giving the composition a dual character: structured enough to hold the eye, but elusive enough to suggest recollection rather than a fixed view. The interplay of warm gold-toned passages and cooler lilac creates a gentle depth without a literal landscape. Its printed image carries the impression of layered color and subtle surface variation. In an interior, it can provide a focal point that changes with viewing distance, revealing new relationships among the planes as the eye returns.

Scarlet Fugue Across Geometric Currents

Interior mockup - setting and scale are illustrative.

ARTWORK NOTES

A scarlet current surges diagonally through fractured passages of black, blue and gold. The composition gives the idea of a musical fugue a forceful visual form, with recurring fragments and directional marks building around the red movement. Its image contains the appearance of bold brushwork, placing expressive energy alongside the order of geometry. Darker sections give the scarlet room to advance, while gold-toned accents punctuate the flow. This is an intense, commanding work whose impact begins with its diagonal sweep and continues through the smaller relationships within the fragments, well suited to a generous wall with a clear approach.

SUBMISSION & PRODUCTION

Save this completed PDF and send it to your salesperson for review. Bethany Ryan reviews the specifications and prepares the final invoice. Once final payment is collected, each item is ordered and fulfilled. Production can take more than two weeks because every canvas is made to order, including printing, stretching, framing and final finishing.

If you choose to order and pay directly through Studio.BethanyRyan.com, identify the project and contact your salesperson for any adjustments before fulfillment. Do not submit a second payment for the same order.
